

Nobody

Nobody

The void incarnate, and even that inaccurate

Nobody is a placeholder used to signify where I haven't been yet

Nobody is someone in the wrong place at exactly the right time

Nobody is what has never been, never is, and what never will be

Nobody is the ghost of ghosts that scares devils

I used to want to be nobody or feared I was nobody until my brain nearly crossed the void forever, body screaming "I take it back"

And still sometimes I long to be nobody until I remember exactly how far I can go

Nobody is a kid who someone picks on, because those insults are only projections of who neither nobody nor someone is

Nobody is a trick hurled at you from horseback on Halloween

Nobody loves me but hearts do

Everybody goes through Hell but nobody stays

Nobody knows the way my thoughts bend and split like sunlight through a prism

illuminating a rainbow of memories

Nobody is sitting right in front of you

Everywhere that someone isn't, nobody is
